

Wainwright Again Turns Out In Full Force For Big Sports

With nearly two thousand people in attendance, the annual Dominion Day celebration in Wainwright was a splendid success. Shortly after ten o'clock the patriotic parade formed on Main Street, which had been decorated with green poplar trees backed by bunting and flags, on every store. Boy Scouts, Girl Guides and school children were out in full force, each one carrying a flag donated by the Committee in charge. The Town Band, resplendent in white, marched north to Fourth Avenue and then proceeded by truck to the Hospital, where several pieces were played before returning to head the parade.

At the gates to the grounds treat tickets were distributed to all the children in the parade, over five hundred, through the generosity of the Committee, and soon there was a great rush on the refreshment booths. On the platform near the Band stand, patriotic speeches were delivered by His Worship, Mayor M. L. Forster, Rev. Father Doyle, Rev. C. N. Bettsman and Rev. T. E. Armstrong. Under the leadership of Scoutmaster Lilly, the Wainwright Troop of Boy Scouts gave two demonstrations of tumbling and acrobatic work on the parallel bars.

Six teams were entered in the Indian softball, two representing Wainwright and one each from Rosyth, Chauvin, Edgerton and Battle Heights. In the first game the Wainwright High School Girls staged a great batting rally in the last inning to come within one run of tying the score with Auburndale. In the second game Chauvin defeated Rosyth and in the third game Wainwright lost to Battle Heights. The final game between Battle Heights and Chauvin was closely contested all the way, the girls from Battle Heights having a slight edge and winning first money, Chauvin taking the second prize and the third going to Auburndale.

In the Men's Baseball teams representing Chauvin, Edgerton, Ribstone, Wainwright, Auburndale and Coal Springs were entered. In the first game Ribstone had the edge over Edgerton, winning by a score of fifteen to ten. In the second game Coal Springs and Auburndale were drawn against each other. This game developed into a pitcher's duel with Coal Springs in the lead until the final innings when Auburndale staged a batting rally bringing in enough runs to win out seven to six. For four innings in the third game between Wainwright and Chauvin there was little to choose between the two teams but through timely hits and costly errors on the part of Chauvin the local team piled up a commanding lead and finally won by a score of eight runs to two.

The semi-final between Ribstone and Auburndale proved to be one-sided, Ribstone winning without much difficulty to enter the final against Wainwright. Played before a large crowd the final game was, from the spectator's point of view, thrilling from first to last. Ribstone went in to bat first and managed to bring in one run, while Wainwright failed to score. For the next four innings Barney Buckle, pitching for Wainwright and given great support by his team mates, did not allow a Ribstone player to cross home plate. In the meantime Wainwright scored three runs in the second inning and another three in the fourth. At the end of five innings Wainwright was leading six to one and then things began to happen. Stuart was sent in to relieve Buckle, the bases were loaded with none out and when the smoke of battle cleared away Ribstone had brought in four runs, making the score six to five in favor of Wainwright. In the next two innings, Ribstone continued their savage batting attack, connecting for enough hits to bring in three runs in each of the seventh and eighth innings, while the best that the local boys could do was to get one run in the seventh. With the score standing eleven to seven against them, Wainwright started a batting rally in the last innings, but could only collect two runs to make the final score eleven to nine. In the eighth inning S. Roberts, who had pitched the first game, was sent in to relieve Stuart in an effort to halt Ribstone, but the boys in red were not to be denied and continued to hit everything the Wainwright pitchers had to offer. A grand slam was hit and a tough one to lose with the winning team hitting when hits meant runs.

All games were umpired by Alf Hamper of Irma in his usual efficient manner, keeping the players on their toes all the time and speeding up the games so that there was very little delay.

In the afternoon there were Pony races for boys, bicycle races and foot races for men, boys and girls of all ages, also a horse shoe tournament. In the ladies basketball only two teams were entered, Wainwright and Irma, with Wainwright being the winners.

The following comprises a complete list of the winners in the various events:
Shot Put: W. Roberts, 1; J. Tolmie, 2.
Men's 100 yards: R. Lindeale, 1; D. Jackson, 2.

Sky Line Hiking in the Rockies

Organized trail hiking in the Canadian Rockies will be inaugurated for the coming year by a hike slated to start at Lake Louise on August 4th. An increasing interest is being taken in trail hiking in the Canadian Rockies, and a committee consisting chiefly of experienced members of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Club of Canada, has undertaken the organization of a new order called the Sky Line Trail Hikers.

The inaugural hike will start this summer on August 4th from Lake Louise and tramp over the Saddleback through Paradise Valley and over Sentinel Pass to Moraine Lake, where the first night's camp will be made. On Saturday, August 5th, the party will hike from Moraine Lake over Wapiti and Opabin Passes and will have the thrill of crossing two glaciers before arriving at Lake O'Hara. On Sunday the hikers will be able to take in the magnificent scenery around Lake MacArthur, Lake Oona, and Mount Otago, and members of the party will be able to enjoy the excellent fishing in Lake O'Hara. The Pow-Wow will be held on Monday, August 6th, after which the members will hike to Wapta and catch the evening train back to Lake Louise.

The magnificent scenery of the Canadian Rockies and the pure joy of achievement, together with the comforts assured by the arrangements made by the Canadian Pacific Railway make this one of the finest and most healthful of holiday outings.

Fly 50 Miles An Hour

AUBURN, N.Y. — An average of more than 50 miles an hour was maintained by the fastest of a sort of racing pigeons in a flight from Youngstown, Ohio, to Auburn, a distance of 250 miles.

The birds were liberated at 7 a.m. and the winner arrived in Auburn at 11:42 a.m.

RAIL POLICE DOGS

HARBIN. — The South Manchuria Railway is planning to triple its pack of police dogs which now number 108 animals used for detecting train wreckers, telegraph and telephone wire thieves. The police dogs have rendered excellent service. Forty-four of the animals are less than a year old, thirty-five six months old and twenty-nine under six months.

Looks For Wedding Before Getting Job

Needful Wife To Be Bathing Superintendent—Collision Nearly Upsets Plans

LONDON. — Most men look for a job before their wedding. But in North London a man has been looking for a wedding before getting a job.

He is W. T. Thorne, an assistant at the Wood Green baths, who was offered the position of baths superintendent at Romford, Essex, provided he was married.

Mr. Thorne, who is a widower, explained the situation to Miss P. M. Perry, an auctioneer's cashier at the Wood Green baths.

"I placed the whole situation before her and she agreed to marry me," he said. "The Romford authorities are satisfied that she will be suitable for the duties at the baths which will fall to her as my wife."

So he got the job—and a bride. But he was nearly disqualified at the finishing post when his bride-to-be was in a bad motor smash-up a few hours before the wedding. Fortunately she suffered no more than shock, and although still feeling a little unsteady on arrival at the registrar's office, went through with the marriage ceremony as planned.

Fence Stave, Sword Wielded In Joust

Brooklyn Youth in Glee for Hand of Lady Fair

NEW YORK. — A stave ripped from a picket fence and an old sword were the weapons in a lively duel last night between two cavaliers of Brooklyn, fighting for the hand of a lady fair.

Louis Schatz, 18, wielded the picket and Harry Asch, 21, the sword; but Patrolman John Salayka ended the combat with a nightstick charge.

Bronze Dagger in Gaza Key To Great Historic Mystery

GET GOVERNOR RING

JERUSALEM. — A bronze dagger found by Sir Flinders Petrie during excavations on the site of the 6,000-year-old city of Gaza in Palestine—in the ancient city of Abraham—has laid bare another secret of the world's most ancient civilization.

The edge of the dagger is rusted with age, and the weapon is vested with a finely engraved raised ribbing. This important discovery has enabled Sir Flinders to establish the

Names Mean Little To Africa's Blacks

CAPE TOWN. — A negro who headed the druidic line in the police court here told the judge his name was "Deaf and Dumb." An hour later a policeman brought another drunk into the courtroom. This man, also was a native, and gave his name as "Dumb and Deaf."

As the South African law forbids natives to help themselves to the names of white men, they are given, and often they themselves take, peculiar names.

"King George Shakes Hand of Representative of Land That Killed His Cousin"

"TO IGNORE IS SILLY"

LONDON. — U.S. recognition of Russia, while far removed from the world economic conference agenda, may be materially advanced here before the delegate, start for home.

The mere presence of the U.S. secretary of state, Cordell Hull, and the Soviet foreign commissar, Maxim Litvinoff, under the same roof, is enough to stimulate active interest in the possibility.

Thus far there has been no direct contact between the two men, but the small amenities have been observed, which is a marked contrast to the deliberate snubbing a former secretary of state gave Litvinoff during the Geneva conference in 1920.

At that time it was Stimson who turned his back on Litvinoff.

It is learned that among the instructions President Roosevelt gave the delegation before it left Washington was that the Russians must be treated as cordially as the world economic conference as any other delegates.

Methods of approach to the problem have been discussed in the delegation, the majority feeling Litvinoff should make the first move. This, it is understood, he is willing to do. In fact, informal feelers already have been put out.

Litvinoff has been given to understand that should he seek a talk with individual members of the American delegation it would not be refused.

One of the principal reasons why former Secretaries Hughes, Kellogg and Stimson refused recognition was that Russia would not recognize solemn governmental obligations, meaning the debts of the Czarist and Kerensky governments.

It is now pointed out, however, that some of the most respectable nations, including France, Belgium, and others, have also refused to recognize the same solemn obligations.

"What's the difference," said one American delegate. "On Saturday I saw King George shake hands with a representative of the government that killed his cousin."

"We shall still-necked," 18 years after the war is ended, refusing to recognize the old government in Europe. It's silly. I personally favor dealing with the problem on the basis of realism, and establishing a joint mixed claims commission to adjust differences as we did with German and Mexican claims."

"Russia owes us money. They contend we owe them for the damage caused by the American expeditionary force in Russia."

"President Roosevelt could recognize Russia without delay by merely appointing an ambassador, but this would be inadvisable without a program which would assure approval of the senate."

Huge Posters Cover Paris Warn Against Disarming

"Remember 1914," French Are Advised—Must Have Security

HITLER IS BUGABOO

PARIS. — Impassioned appeals for France to rearm, not disarm, are being made through enormous billboard posters along the main boulevards and highways of Paris by the strong Republican National group, with which Andre Tardieu, former premier, is intimately associated.

Large crowds at all times of the day can be seen gathered around these flaming colored appeals on the leading streets radiating from the opera, where American tourists are most frequently seen.

One striking poster reads: "Frenchmen! Remember that your eldest son in 1914 was the victim of being insufficiently armed in the face of the enemy." The appeal is illustrated by the figure of a soldier falling into his comrade's arms.

Probably the largest crowds are those which silently and pensively group around a large map of France. The text reads: "France, which has known invasion four times in 100 years, must not disarm without assurance of security." Thick, black hordes of fighting men and cavalry are seen treading over the soil of France in all directions, making the map black with these frightening figures.

Another poster which attracts almost as large crowds makes the appeal in large black lettering: "Remain Strong! Remain Armed!" The text on a yellow background reads:

"In front of Hitler... Three days after Von Papen, vice-chancellor of the Reich, proclaimed that Germans must not die in their beds but on the battlefield, Hitler in an effort to appease world sentiment gave a speech relatively moderate.

"But we will not be duped! We cannot forget that Germany is arming; that 400,000 Nazis have just been incorporated into the permanent army and that the youth and the people are constantly turning toward the goal of war. The Germans who once more are showing of what they are capable, even concerning their own nationals, the communists, socialists and Jews, respect only force."

A touch of humor is revealed in a poster attacking Leon Blum, the socialist leader. One-half of the poster shows him with a red robe standing on a pile of copies of the Populaire, his personal organ, and quote him as saying on November 8: "Hitler hereafter is excluded from power; he is even excluded, if I may say so, from the hope of power."

The other half of the poster shows Hitler on a balcony window taking the salute of a marching brigade of brown shirts and is entitled: "Three months later: Hitler, Chancellor of the Reich."

72-Year-Old Biscuit Stalest In State

FRESNO, Calif. — The 43-year-old biscuit claimed by Mrs. Alice Torrence of McCrory, Ark., as one of the oldest in the world, is fresh from the oven compared to M. L. Ellis' biscuit. Ellis, a Fresno resident, has pieces of a biscuit which he said was at least 72 years old. The biscuit, he said, was brought to the United States in 1861 by Fred A. Kempt, a German seaman, and given to Ellis in 1904.

Anyway, Ellis claimed, it is his biscuit is not the oldest in the United States, at least it is the stalest bread in California.

WEDDING

ELWOOD—GARDNER

On Saturday morning, July 1st, a quiet but pretty wedding took place at the United Church, Wainwright, when Miss Stella Gardner was united in marriage to Mr. Ralph Elwood. Both these young people are well known here and the good wishes of the community are extended to them. They left immediately after the ceremony for a short honeymoon at Camrose.

They will reside on the groom's farm at Heath.

They were supported by Miss Beatrice McKay, bridesmaid and John L. Mitchell, as best man.

PETERSON—NICHOLS

On Friday, June 30th, a very quiet wedding was solemnized at the United Church when Miss Mary Marguerite Nichols, of Islay, was united in marriage to Nelson Frank Peterson, of Irma, by Rev. T. Edgar Armstrong.

The witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Holt of Irma.

Both young people are well known around Irma and Islay and the best wishes of the community are extended. They will reside in Irma.

Detachable Nails Match Dresses

PARIS. — A short time ago the tyrants of Paris fashions decreed that women were to wear detachable finger nails. The idea was to have fitted nails to match their evening gowns. Mounted on miniature metal frames and fitted with tiny clasps these could be changed as easily as the dresses.

Manufacturers at first expressed great fear that the new fashion would spoil their trade. Now they are reassured by the news that their services will be in demand as much as ever because, unless the real nails are very carefully tended, the artificial ones will not fit.

Golden and silver nails are already being produced. Those women who prefer a little splash of color will be able to buy them in turquoise, jade or amber hues. Some may even like to equip themselves with a differently tinted nail for each finger.

CAPTURE OF BANDITS HITS TOURIST TRADE

Corvican Innkeepers Complain Business Ruined by Spada's Arrest

AJACCIO, Corsica. — While law-abiding Frenchmen are thankful that the notorious Corsican bandit, Andre Spada, has been arrested after a police hunt lasting 11 years, their feelings are by no means shared by everybody in Corsica.

The Corsican innkeepers are the loudest in their regrets, complaining that tourist traffic on the island has already suffered enough, what with arrest of the major bandits and the economic depression. Now it has lost a really big attraction.

Tourists have been known to go to great lengths to obtain autographs from some of the most notorious bandits, while guides point out the "historic" spots where murders have taken place.

FIND ROME'S NOISES AS BAD AS CHICAGO

ROME. — Rome now enjoys the unenviable distinction of ranking among the noisiest cities in Europe, in fact some victims assert that it is as bad as Chicago. Some prominent citizens are trying to start a movement whereby motorists, the arch-offenders, may be trained not to honk at every street corner and not to play tunes on their klaxons between midnight and six in the morning.

They contend that bylaws to ensure comparative quiet are not being enforced. They plan a deputation to the governor of the city, urging him to punish the worst offenders—the drivers of city omnibuses, the property of the local government.

Artists and those who live in their particular quarter are wondering where they come in, for their old-fashioned streets and verdant courtyards are the happy hunting ground of noise.

Since Trajan's Forum has been entirely excavated, the cat colony which found homes in it have been evicted and have settled in the artists' quarters, where they roam at will, making noises which are quite as bad as the motorists. There appears to be no chance, however, to stop this nuisance.

Swan Attacks Pony Who Invades Pond

LONDON. — Joey the Clown is a pony who believes in living up to his name. While being led through Richmond Park by his trainer, Joey broke loose, dashed into one of the ponds and started to swim towards the opposite bank, with only the tip of his nose showing.

He had covered about a hundred yards when a large swan, which resented the intrusion, fiercely attacked him.

For half an hour the pony swam desperately about the pond, trying to shake off his assailant. Finally the park ranger waded out into the water, beat the swan off, and led Joey to shore.

W.H.S. Entertain For Bride-to-be

A large crowd of students and friends gathered at the Masonic Hall Thursday evening, where a dance was held by the students of the W. H. S. to honor Miss Secord a bride-to-be of this month.

Music was supplied by a peppy orchestra consisting of Miss Grace Wittmann, Mr. Frank McLeod, Joe Collett, Cliff Bradley, and Henry Leroux.

After a delicious lunch was served an address was read by Doug Wallace on behalf of the students and a presentation of a silver cream and sugar bowl made by Miss Doris Forster to which Miss Secord fittingly replied.

Best wishes were the order of the evening and we wish Miss Secord and Mr. Redgwell much happiness.

According to the newly amended regulations of the Meat and Canned Foods act when a variety of corn is claimed on the label, the corn must be true to that variety, i.e. Golden Biscuit corn must be packed from the golden biscuit variety, not from any other variety of yellow corn, and so on.

OUR DOMINION DAY

Once again the famous Dominion Day has come and gone. Something of the good old days was noticeable as the crowds flocked to the grounds and there met old acquaintances. What a splendid thing to see men and women of all nations joining in celebrating the birthday of this fair land of ours.

The Mayor and the special Dominion Day Committee deserves an unlimited degree of congratulations for their splendid sports day. Our Mayor is untiring in his efforts to further the interest of our Town. The pilot of the ship is responsible for the safe-ty of the passengers, but depends a great deal upon his crew. Our Mayor is responsible for this Town. He is the chief Magistrate. A Mayor can make or break his Town by his interest or the lack of it. But he must depend a great deal on the citizens as individuals and as a group. Let us, each one of us, follow our Leader. Let us give him support in all his undertakings. It is for "Our Town"—"Our Mayor" and his Council are for it.

CIVILIZATION WILL NOT COLLAPSE

The statement is being made from time to time that if the economic conference in London proves a failure civilization will collapse.

What does the person who makes use of this expression mean by it or what does he think he means? Not what he says, surely. No doubt it would be a severe disappointment to

Will Never Join Germany Says Austria's Tiny Ruler

Dollfus, Who Defied Hitler, Works Single-Handed to Restore Nation

LIKES HARD JOBS

(By M. H. HALTON)

LONDON.—"They say," said Engelbert Dollfus, who is 41 years old, 59 inches high, and the Iron Chancellor of Austria, and who holds the destinies of his country in his two hands, even though he is only four feet eleven inches high, "they say that if the economic conference is successful it will mean the gradual abolition of tariffs, and that the eventual abolition of tariffs will mean the eventual union of Austria with Germany. I say that Austria will always be Austria."

And this is the man all Europe is talking about. Working single-handed, this pint-sized dictator with the glib brain has made Austria what she has not been since the great war sent the Austro-Hungarian empire crashing to ruins—a nation. Working single-handed, this pugnacious bantam has risen from a peasant's shack to shake his fist in the face of Hitler and his merry men and say: "No, thank you, no Hitlerism today. Austria will attend to her own garden." Single-handed he has in three weeks conquered the hearts of his at first laughing countrymen, given the German minister his walking order, raided every Nest stronghold in Austria, and dispatched a few regiments of men and a handful of machine guns to the German border with orders to attack any Brown Shirt that spoke out of turn. That is Engelbert Dollfus.

"You think I am small?" he asked, as we stood in the lobby of the museum which is now the meeting place of the world economic conference. "Well, Austria is small, too. You know, since the war we have a little anecdote in Austria. After dinner people say: 'Let's go for a little walk to the frontier and back before bedtime.'"

He is certainly small; but that is only one reason why he is the darling of this latest thing in conferences. He is the darling of all men who love the name of freedom because he has dared to set his diminutive 59 inches to stem the tide of Hitlerism.

And Austria loves him. And laughs at him—when he is not listening. They say, for example, that recently he had an audience with the pope. On such occasions it is usual for him who is being blessed to kneel, but the pope commanded Dollfus to stand. "I am standing," replied the Iron Chancellor.

They say, also, that a new Austrian postage stamp soon to be issued will feature a life-size portrait of the chancellor.

"My enemies say," said Chancellor Dollfus, "that my name means 'clown's foot.' Perhaps. But with that foot I hope to make some impression on the history of my country."

In that noisy lobby the languages of 67 nations—no, 66, Panama wasn't there—I asked the little Napoleon how he happened to become the leader of his nation. His answer showed that he is a curious mixture of mysticism, realism, humor.

Chosen by Providence

"I believe I was chosen by Providence for the job of reconstructing the Austrian nation," he said seriously. And then, jovially: "I think it happened when I was 14 years old. On my 14th birthday the great realization came to me that I would never be more than four feet eleven inches tall. 'Well,' I thought, 'Engelbert, you will have to make up in achievement what you lack in inches.' So I went to work."

It was hard work. When a boy at school his life seemed to be one long fight against the jeers of other boys. But somehow, though he was of a poor peasant family, he worked his way through school. He studied law at Vienna and economics at Berlin. The war came, he fought as a pilot in a Tyrolean regiment, he was decorated on the field for bravery.

Ten years later he became a minister in the Austrian cabinet. There came the financial crash of 1931. President Miklas called on everyone he could think of to form a new cabinet, and they all refused. Someone jokingly suggested Dollfus. And Dollfus was offered the chancellorship.

Always Tackles Hard Jobs

"It's my principle," he said, "always to tackle a hard job. I accepted the offer. After many difficulties I managed to form a coalition of the Agrarians, the Fascists and the Christian Socialists—with a majority of one! And since then I have been busy keeping the Fascists out of Austria."

"I should be glad if you would call my attention to any of your concrete achievements beside your duel with Hitlerism," I said to my redoubtable little vis-a-vis.

"I should be glad to call your attention to the fact that we have balanced our budget," replied simply Engelbert Dollfus. "Which is no mean achievement in Austria, which has hovered on—and over—the edge of bankruptcy for the last 15 years."

LUXURIOUS U.S. JAIL IN SHANGHAI CLOSING

No Longer Will Prisoners Live in Cells Ten Feet Square

SHANGHAI.—American material here after July 1 will probably take second thought before rising arrest. An economical congress has ordered that the famous jail be closed after the current fiscal year.

For many years the United States has been the sole power enjoying extrajudiciality which has gone to the expense of maintaining its own prisoners. The jail was maintained as part of the U.S. court for China.

In it, prisoners had cells ten feet square with running hot and cold water and were fed by a popular local restaurant. All this luxury cost Uncle Sam twenty thousand Chinese dollars yearly. Based on the total number of days of occupation, it came to something like $100 per day per prisoner. That was well in excess of the most expensive suite de luxe in any Shanghai hotel.

After July 1 Americans will be locked up in the Amoy Road jail of the International Settlement where conditions are decidedly more rigorous.

In Tientsin, where prisoners are less frequent, a cell is maintained as part of Consul General Frank Lockhart's establishment. On rare occasions when it is occupied, an allowance of one American dollar per day is available to feed the inmate. Food is sent in from a German hotel famed for its fare.

The last prisoner actually complained that he could not enjoy his afternoon snooze. He had no sooner finished his tiffin and got to his nap than a Chinese servant appeared with a tray of tea dainties. He expressed annoyance at this disturbance.

NOXIOUS WEEDS IN FARM LANDS

Noxious weeds in farm lands are enumerated and described in a new series of bulletins on weed and seed seeds published by the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Some of the worst weeds are so prolific that relatively clean fields may be badly contaminated in two or three years if the weeds are allowed to go to seed. For instance, a single plant of wild mustard, stinkweed, foxtail, pigweed or campion produces from 10,000 to 20,000 seeds; wormleaved mustard about 25,000; shepherd's purse about 30,000; and tumbling mustard about 1,500,000. With such productivity weeds become quickly infested, and only a careful examination can reveal the kinds and numbers of seeds. With this object in view, much important information from surveys of selected fields in Alberta, Saskatchewan, Ontario and Quebec has been obtained.

Gold Find In 1870 Will Be Celebrated

VIRGINIA CITY, Mont.—The 70th anniversary of the discovery of gold at Alder Gulch was celebrated here May 26.

Six men who had been forced by hostile Indians to turn back on a mission to join the Yellowstone exploration party of Captain James Stuart made the discovery.

Within a few days news of their find attracted a stampede crowd of fortune hunters, and by the summer of 1864 an estimated 11,000 men were working the region. In three years some $30,000,000 in gold was extracted from the district, experts say.

Boy, 10, Gets 83C For Uncle's Jewels

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Precocious, ten-year-old R. M. Watley's "salesmanship" has caused his uncle much chagrin.

Robert O. Burr left his small nephew alone at his home. In his absence the child sold for 83 cents Burr's diamond stickpin and two rings—all valued at $93.

Police sought the suave purchaser, who, young Watley said, grumbled because of the "high" 83 cents price from which the child refused to budge.

"Whiskey" Dispute Goes To High Court

BERLIN.—When is whiskey not whiskey?

A great dispute over the word whiskey is being waged between British and German distillers.

In a law case in Germany some months ago, which the British Trade Association won, it was laid down that whiskey might be sold in Germany as whiskey provided the word "German" was prefixed.

The British case is being carried to the supreme tribunal in Germany in the autumn and the Trade Association are advised by the best lawyers in Germany that under their Unfair Trading Law it is quite likely that the courts will decide they are not entitled to use the word whiskey, because it is an English and not a German word.

SPRINGFIELD, Cal.—E. M. Benson, a Fresno attorney, was all burned up the other day in a heated courtroom argument. Arguing in court on a point of law, Benson was crating fiercely when suddenly he stopped, turned and ran from the courtroom, a trail of smoke behind him. A box of matches in his pocket had become ignited somehow.

$150,000 Correggio

Amidst Old Boots

LONDON.—A painting by Correggio, declared by German experts who have seen it to be one of the lost original pictures of the master, is being exhibited for sale among old boots and bicycles in the Euston Road.

Four old soldiers are guarding it.

"The Flying Youth" has never previously been seen in England, and till recently it was not known that the original existed. Museums have to be content with copies.

Some time ago the German owner refused an offer of $150,000 for it. When conditions became so unsettled there it was smuggled to England for sale, being placed with the Disabled Officers' Garden Homes so that, if a deal was made, the commission would go to that worthy cause.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE
IN THE WAINWRIGHT STAR

Over $40 Cash Prizes For Bread And Cake Bakers Sat., July 15

BEST LOAF OF BREAD DRAWS CASH PRIZE OF $10.00—$7.50 FOR BEST LAYER CAKE—EXHIBITS TO BE AUCTIONED

Who is the best breadmaker within a radius of 35 miles of Wainwright? And who can turn out the most delicious, appealing layer cake? Well, there is going to be considerable money spent in an effort to bring out the best talent among the women of Wainwright and surrounding country, when Robin Hood Mills Limited and the W. I. unite for that purpose, on Saturday July 15th. The "home" bakers will be awarded more than Forty Dollars in cash prizes and a glance at the detailed list of prizes will convince anyone that the inducement is well worth a try.

Briefly, the W. I. and Robin Hood Mills Limited, are sponsoring a Baking Competition to be held in the showrooms of Forster and Brunker, Saturday July 15th. Two classes only consisting of White Bread and Layer Cake, will provide a dozen cash prizes ranging from $10 down to $1. And the prizes will be paid immediately after judging has been completed. It costs nothing to enter.

Any person residing within a 35 mile radius of Wainwright is eligible to enter this Robin Hood-W. I. Baking Competition. Professional bakers engaged in the business, are the exception.

The Competition

The Competition will be held in the showrooms of Forster and Brunker on Saturday July 15th. Entries will consist of white bread and layer cake. All entries must be at showroom on morning of July 15th. There are no restrictions as to style of loaf or the variety of cake, except that the latter must be a "layer" cake, obviously of two or more layers.

Auction for W. I.

Competitors agree that their entries will remain the property of the Committee. Upon the completion of the Competition, all bread and cakes will be sold at auction, and the entire proceeds will be given to the W. I. For the convenience of purchasers at the auction sale, cake boxes are being provided, and each parcel will be carefully wrapped for carrying.

Competent Judge

Judging will be done by a competent expert on bread and cake baking whose decision must naturally be accepted as final. Competitors are assured of the fairest of treatment in this respect. Not only have the sponsors, selected a judge who will have no personal interest in the competitors, but the identity of each exhibit will remain secret until after the judging. Entry tags, in duplicate sections, and bearing numbers, will be affixed to each exhibit. The exhibit will be identified by numbers only, the competitor holding the corresponding stub. Robin Hood Mills Ltd. will present the winners with prize money immediately after judging is completed.

Showroom of Forster and Brunker Arrangements

The showrooms of Forster and Brunker affords splendid accommodation and appropriate arrangement of tables for exhibits, decorations etc., is being made.

To Help The W. I.

The Robin Hood - W. I. Baking

Competition, in addition to providing an opportunity for a little friendly rivalry among the bakers of the town and farm homes, will amply repay the fortunate prize winners for their efforts. Then, in the last analysis, it is also a worthy community enterprise. There will not be ONE CENT deducted from the proceeds of the auction sale. EVERY CENT so realized will be turned over to the W. I. The Star anticipates an unequalled success for the Baking Competition and solicits the co-operation of its wide circle of women readers.

Old Man Nature

In North Vancouver two blackbirds and a robin are mothering six baby chicks at the home of P. H. McPhee, and are driving away cats and dogs which attempt to molest their little charges.

At Clarkson, Ont., two chirping sparrows and a robin have been feeding two robins and a sparrow which were hatched in a sparrow's nest where the robin laid her eggs.

In Chatham township, on the farm of J. Huff, a rabbit has formed the habit of chasing a fox terrier which is said to run yelping away when the bunny attacks.

At the rear of J. J. Zettler's farm, near Walkerton, Ontario, William Yack is reported to have caught a pike weighing 17 pounds and was 42 inches long. He caught a 16-pounder in the same spot a year or so ago.

A four-legged duck has been hatched out at Jack Mumford's place in Sarnia, two of the legs being where the tail should be.

The Midland Free Press vouchers for a goose egg within a goose egg laid by the goose owned by Edward Coombs. The inner egg, complete in itself, was floating in the white of the other.

In Wallace township a cow owned by Robert North has given birth to triplets.

On the Centre Rd., between Brantford and Cookville, Ontario, a hawk is said to be following Traffic Officer Dan Hoffman in his daily patrol, flying eight or ten feet above his head—just for a lark, no doubt.

Boys under thirteen have formed an anti-groundhog club in the Orangeville, Ontario, district and claim 183 victims.

The Chesley Enterprise says that bees came swarming out of the post-office tower there and clustered on a maple limb in Hero's Square. H. D. McCulloch, apiarist, cut off the limb and got a new hive of bees for nothing.

Esplanade Masons, returning from a lodge meeting at Gore Bay, Ontario, ran into a deer, killed it and crumpled their own fenders.

At Niagara Falls a pair of starlings flew into an electrical transformer and plunged Buffalo into darkness.

Near King, Ontario, starlings have raised a family in the back of John Clark's mailbox, although mail has been placed and collected as usual in the front of the box.

Nature's sign is "business as usual."

RULES

The Robin Hood - W. I. Baking Competition, in the Forster and Brunker showrooms, Wainwright, on Saturday July 15th, is open to all "home bakers" residing within a radius of 35 miles of Wainwright.

Entry is Free

No member of the family of any employee of either Robin Hood Mills Limited, or the W. I. or any person connected in any way with these sponsors, is eligible for prize money.

Prizes will be paid in cash on day of Competition, as per prize list.

Entry tags will be provided and will be designed in such a way that the Judge will not know the identity of the exhibitor. Every precaution is being taken to ensure the utmost fairness in this respect.

All entries will remain the property of the Committee in charge, and will be auctioned following the close of the Competition. Funds from this sale will be turned over to the W. I.

All exhibits must be in place by Saturday morning July 15th.

A competent professional Judge is being provided by the Committee in charge, and his decision will in all cases be final.

When making entry, entry form must be accompanied by a dealer's sales slip showing the purchase by entrant of one 94 lb., 49 lb., or 24 lb. bag of Robin Hood Flour within 30 days of date of Competition.

Layer Cake—Entries in the Layer Cake class may be of any variety, "light" or "dark", iced or frosted as competitor may elect. The only point which should not be overlooked in this connection is the fact that all cake entries must qualify as "layer" cakes, of two or more layers naturally.

Horticultural science is today making rapid strides in the solution of problems upon which light has long been wanting. Scientific research is unearthing a wealth of material, much of which offers practical solutions or, at least, suggestions for some of the difficulties in profitable orchard management.

A feature of Canadian agriculture is the number of crops which are grown in localities specially suited to their production, some of the most important being tobacco, flax and hemp.

McCAFFERTY

The Browning N.F.W. local entertained McCafferty and Sunnyvale ladies on their regular meeting day at the home of Mrs. Woodcock. Mrs. W. McPeet as chairman. There were about sixty attended and enjoyed every minute of the afternoon. Mr. Spencer, M.P., gave a splendid address on the problems of the world at present, which was very thoroughly enjoyed and Mrs. Spencer in her usual pleasant manner told the ladies many interesting features of Ottawa, and things taking place while she was here. Mr. Swindhurst spoke on co-operation which was listened to with keen interest, after contests a nice song was given by Miss Evans. Everyone was invited out to a grove where tables were spread and all enjoyed a grand supper. Mrs. Evans tendered thanks to the speaker and Mrs. Warnock to the ladies.

EDGERTON

Miss Leona Milne, of Viking, spent Sunday in town.

Nearly all Edgerton townspeople spent Dominion Day in Wainwright and report sports were first class.

Paul Spornitz, pitcher for Edgerton League Ball team left to join Swift's team in Edmonton. Best wishes go with Paul and we hope he may get on well.

Late reports from the south are that crops truly need rain.

Mrs. Dale of Biggar is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Guy.

Clarence Meladore returned from Washington and says there's a most wonderful fruit crop.

Phyllis and Evelyn Watson are spending a few days at Chas. Moore's.

The members of the United Church choir honored Miss Murray with a party at H. Challenger's. She will be greatly missed for her willing co-operation in church affairs.

Edgerton will start the school term with a new teaching staff. Mr. Pope as principal, Miss Pearl Challenger, intermediate grades and Miss Kingsbury for junior room. We wish them success.

Bank Robbers Knocked Out With Money - Bags, Poles

Third Gunman Trapped in Vault After
Free-for-All Fight

PORTERS JOINED IN

NEWCASTLE.—Bags of silver and copper coins and meat poles were used in a desperate fight between bankers and assisting butchers' porters on the one side and three masked and armed men who tried to rob a branch of Lloyds Bank here.

Within a few seconds of the alarm being given by the porters, armed with poles, rushed into the bank from the adjoining cattle market to help the clerks, while a police car patrol the streets to the scene.

Two of the gunmen were knocked out, while the third, injured, was trapped in the vaults.

Two officials of the bank were also injured, they being J. Ainsley, the acting manager, and P. Harrison, the cashier, while A. Ayre was treated in hospital for injuries to his hand.

It is believed that a fourth man took part in the raid. The would-be robbers left a motor car in an adjoining street.

Trio Wore Gloves

The scene of the holdup is in the heart of the city and so promptly was the alarm given by the staff, who number five, that within a few minutes detectives on motorcycles were rushing toward the bank, while other officers in patrol wagons together with a fire engine with a complete complement of firemen, also dashed to the scene.

Business was about to close for the day when the three men, who wore gloves, entered the premises, which are in a block of property mainly occupied by small tradesmen. They vaulted over the counter, presenting revolvers to the staff, and before there was any interference began to fill their pockets with cash and notes.

The alarm was given by a clerk, who rushed out of the back door shouting "Thieves! Thieves! Fetch the police!"

Trussed Up Customer
Meanwhile a furious struggle was going on in the bank, clerks and gunman rolling about on the floor.

Some one managed to close the street door and a thug who had got into the vaults was imprisoned there by a clerk. One shot—believed to have been a blank—was fired.

A customer who was in the bank at the time the raiders swept in was made to kneel and his hands were tied behind his back. He was left lying on the floor during the fight and could not be released until the trouble was over.

The scene was one of confusion. Burst money bags were lying about, windows were broken and there was blood on the floor.

Wild Birds Cloud Skies In Attack Upon Locusts

Aid Prairie Farmers in Fight to Save Budding Crops

RAIN MAY HELP

WINNIPEG. — Wild birds, thousands of flocks of them, flew from their secluded breeding grounds and joined humans in their grim fight to save 40 per cent of the western crop from destruction by myriads of invading grasshoppers. The bird invasion demonstrates one of the dramatic balance wheels of nature which makes birds multiply incredibly with the easy food for their young provided by the grasshopper larvae.

In many parts of the west also cool rains fell to revivify the parched crops and to retard growth that had been checked by temperatures ranging from 90 to 100 in the sun for days together. The situation which threatens 100,000 farmers with loss of their crops, lack of feed for their livestock and families next winter and with personal insolvency, is distinctly more hopeful now, though the crisis is not yet passed. Farmers and farm experts agree that the danger will not be definitely averted unless and until general cool, drenching rains soak the prairies, more especially the grasshopper areas.

One tragic phase is that the grasshoppers are now largely beyond the larvae stage when poison bait is most effective. For the most part they have wings and can jump many feet to enjoy the succulent green of grains and grasses in fields and meadows. They spell certain death to every blade they attack and they attack millions each day.

Like their wild winged cousins, barnyard chickens, turkeys, geese and ducks feast through the long June daylight hours on the hoppers, and the eggs laid by the hens have yolks that are almost blood red in color. Seldom even in the memories of the oldest old-timers has there been anything like it. In many areas the skies are scarcely visible for the thousands of preying birds which swoop or walk and peck up hoppers in incredible numbers.

"The birds are more effective than the hoppers," one farmer declared, in commenting on the warfare now being waged. "But," he added, "we'll spread poison while there's a chance to save our crops."

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hestmark, of Paradise Valley, spent the week-end in town.

Miss M. Brown is visiting the Misses Bessie and Grace Welch.
